AUGUST 6, 1858. Reading Matter on every page.

The New Custom House Building, CORNER OF GREEN AND THIRD STREETS This magnificent structure has so nearly approached completion that a portion of it will be occupied to-day for Government purposes. Mr. Postmaster Ronald will, this morning, deliver letters and papers to their owners from his new quarters, and a notice of the Postoffice and the entire building will, therefore, be appropriate at this time.

The building was commenced in May, 1853, and it is constructed of stone of a very handsome appearance and superior quality, brought from the neighborhood of Bedford, Ia. It fronts on Green street 113 feet, on Third street 125 feet, and is 83 feet 6 inches in hight above the pavement, composed of three stories; the ceiling of the first being 18 feet high; of the second 25 feet 3 inches. and of the third 22 feet. The west and south sides of the building are surrounded by a court 22 feet wide, which is protected by a substantial brick wall 11 feet high, with a stone copeing.

There is a cellar under the entire building, a ortion of which is arranged for the storage of oods in bond. The balance will be used for apparatus for heating the building and for the stor

The entire first story will be occupied for postoffice purposes, and is most conveniently arranged, with an eye to the quick, prompt, and safe dis patch of the intricate business to be performed. In the center of the building, and throughout its entire length, running parallel with Third street, is a spacious corridor 15 feet wide, To the right of this, as you enter it, is the NEWSPAPER DISTRIBUTING ROOM, the size of which is 36 feet inches, by 43 feet 10 inches. The boxes for papers and the arrangements for distribution are perfect, the facilities enabling the clerks to perform their duties with a wonderful economy of

To the rear of this room, with which it is cor nected by a hall eleven feet wide, is a room of exactly the same size, in which the letter mails will be made up. It, also, is admirably fitted and arranged for the quick and easy dispatch of busi-

The room for the general delivery of letters and newspapers to the public, and for the transaction of general business, is 119 x 43 feet in the clear, and is divided and sub-divided into other rooms for the greater convenience of the postmaster and his assistants. The postmaster's business office is about in the center of the room, and is entered from the corridor before mentioned. On Green st., immediately east of the corridor, is the room of the assistant postmaster and cashier, where "registered" letters will be received and delivered, drafts cashed, and all business of that charac. ter transacted. Next to the cashier's room, and towards Third street, is the "ladies" department," which is fitted up with an eye to the comfort and convenience of the fair sex, and from which men and boys will be rigidly excluded .-Immediately at the corner of Third and Green streets, are the large boxes for the newspaper press; and for the more complete accommodation of the "Fourth Estate," and through it the public at large, they will be accessible at all hours of the day and night. Next to this is the "stamp department" window, where stamps and stamped envelopes may be purchased. Next to this, and ronting Third street, is the "box delivery" and the locked "drawers," presenting, with the ample space in front of them, a very handsome appearance. Still further beyond this, and near the rear of the building on Third street, and permanently eparated by a false door from the "box delivery," the "German delivery;" next to this is the nderstand the general arrangement of the postoffice, and go at once to the proper place to transwith us, that for compactness and convenience, the new Louisville postoffice is not surpassed b that of any city either in the East or West.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT ROOM. The second story is approached by a beautiful ron staircase 20 by 32 feet, beginning at the center of the corridor. On reaching it, a corridor 5 feet wide from the front to the rear, communicates with the several rooms in this story. The entire side from the corridor fronting Third oom, and has, at either end, clerks' rooms, an ury rooms, conveniently attached. The court oom is 46 feet 6 inches by 65 feet, and for beauty and harmony of proportion, arrangement, and finish, is not equalled in the State.

SURVEYOR OF CUSTOMS' ROOM. Fronting Green street, and on the west side of the corridor, is the room intended for the occupancy of the Surveyor of Customs and designated de pository. It is 37 feet 6 inches by 45 feet, with a feet 3 inch ceiling. It is well supplied with ables, desks, counters, etc., and is one of the handsomest and most convenient rooms in the ouilding. The vault is so solid and massive that it may bid defiance to all the assaults of burglars. It is protected by heavy, double doors, on which are Harig's best combination locks, but to render assurance doubly sure, and make what little treasure "Uncle Sam" may have here safe beyond any contingency, inside of the vault is a "Burglar Proof Safe, with Combination Lock," from the most noted establishment at the East, and which of itself alone would be ample protection.

LOCAL INSPECTOR'S LOOM. Immediately in the rear of the Surveyor's coom, and of the same size and proportions, and similarly fitted up with desks, tables, and counters, is the room for the Local Inspectors o steamboats for this district. One better adapted for the purpose could not be planned or made.

THIRD STORY. In the third story are rooms similar in size and shape to those in the second story, but they have not been designated for any special purposes by the Department at Washington, and are still in ar unfinished condition.

The style of the building is a combination of the Byzanthium Romanesque. It presents a very handsome and commanding appearance, and there is a universal expression of regret that it is not situated on a street better fitted than Green street is to exhibit its beautiful proportions. Notwithstanding its location on the narrowest street in the city, it is an ornament to Louisville and the State and reflects great credit on the architectual skill of its constructors. It has been pronounced by experienced and competent judges to be the most onvenient, the most substantial, and the best built Custom House in the West. The materials are all A No. 1, and they are put together in the nost thorough and workman-like manner. In the house there are no less than six fire proof vaults of the most substantial character. The building is also supplied throughout with water closets and other conveniences. Every room is provided with gas, and the house will be warmed either by furnaces or with steam.

The architect and superintendent of the building our well known fellow-citizen, E. E. Williams, Esq., with whose ability and skill all our people are familiar. The new Custom House building is a noble monument to his architectual taste and judgment, and proves that he deserves the posi tion he has so long occupied at the head of his

cost of the building is about $255,000. THANKS TO THE TECHNICALITIES OF THE LAW .-

The Future of Louisville Louisville has seen her worst. The election of last Monday was an omen of better times. There will be no more disfranchising of legal voters here. The good men of the American party have joined with the Democracy to put down all outrages upon the ballot box. The Americans don't think foreigners ought to vote, but so long as the law allows them this privilege they intend to protect them in it. They have resolved to have no more terror, and outrage, and murder, and riot at the ballot box.

We invite all those foreigners who have left us for past outrages, to come back. They will hereafter be protected in their rights as citizens .-Their peaceful homes will be guaranteed to them by good citizens of both political parties. The reign of bullyism is at an end. Brass knucks and slung shot, and billies, and bludgeons have had the r day. Public opinion has risen in its imperial majesty against the muscular arm, and the brainless head, that has ruled our elections Property is now cheap in Louisville. Real estate is low and house rent still lower. A store or dwelling can be had here for half the Cincinnati price. The price has gone down because buyers went away from us, instead of coming to us. Now is the time for bargains and speculations. He who buys at present, is bound to make money .-Houses and lots must go up. They are bound to reach and go beyond the prices of 1854, and the difference between '54 and '58 will make many nagnificent fortunes.

We have never, until now, since the riots of 855, felt that we were justified in advising foreigners to come here. On each election morn since that time, hundreds of them have been known to go out of the city with their wives and children, to get rid of trouble. They valued their ives and their limbs more than they did their right to vote, and left the city to secure them from outrage. They need do so no more. The last election shows that they will be protected from bullies and ruffians hereafter. There are Americans who will stand by them hereafter, as well as Democrats.

Let the long closed warehouse be again opened and filled with articles of trade. Let the manu acturer increase his workmen, and open new places of labor. There is work for all to do, and et us be doing. A glorious revolution has dawned pon us. Its sun rose last Monday, and it will not set. Louisville must become the great city which nature designed her to be, and which art can make her. We want an hundred thousand souls here at the taking of the next census, or ery soon thereafter. We want the vacant lots n the center of the city covered over with resilences and business houses, and every vacant ouse filled with an owner or a tenant. We want o see our streets filled with vehicles bearing our ommerce to the river and railroads, and returning with articles of trade from other places. We beieve the day has come for seeing all this, and we are happy beyond expression at being able to reord the fact. Louisville is all right now, what ever her past wrongs have been, and we proclaim he fact to the world with great joy.

The disturbances at the First Ward polls wer he last effort of expiring Plug Uglyism. This ying struggle disgusted the American party as such as the Democratic. The thing will be atempted no more. Our elections hereafter will be uiet, decent, peaceful, and lawful. The real hoice of the people will be elected whenever the andidates of different parties come before them. Let us all rejoice at this great and good result, or in it is the germ of the future glory and prosperity of our city.

Death of Major Sanders. Major Sanders died suddenly on Thursday last, at the Pea Patch, Fort Delaware, and was buried on Saturday afternoon, from the residence of his father-in-law, Judge Wilkins. We suppose him to have been about fifty years of age, and in many respects a very remarkable man. We believe he was a native of Kentucky, and educated at West Point, where he pre-eminently distin-guished himself in mathematics and civil engi-neering, and their allied departments.

His reputation in the exact sciences caused the War Department very wisely to detach him to the discharge of duties in that department. He, for a number of years, superintended the im-provements attempted by the General Govern-ment on the Ohio river. His plans were never carried out so far as to enable the public to test their full value. We, at one time were pretty fully posted up on them, and always hoped much from them, had they been fully carried out. On the breaking out of the Mexican war he was detached to the charge of the Engineeric eering department under Gen. Taylor, and we have always understood that his remarkable success was very largely owing to the admirable plans of Maj. Sanders. Since the close of the Mexican war he has been principally engaged in planning and executing Fort Delaware, on the Pea Patch Island, in Delaware Bay, designed to protect the approach to the city of Philadelphia from the cases. This work words to be one of great This work, reported to be one of gre lifficulty, has for a number of years been under his personal supervision.

In all the relations of social and professional life, Major Sanders has ever commanded the esteem, confidence and respect of all with whom he has been associated. His loss will be felt by Gov ernment, which has few, if any, equals to him is his own department; and the more deeply by a large circle of devoted, admiring friends, and most deeply of all in that domestic circle, to whom human words of sympathy would be but a mock ery.—Pitts. THE ROAD TO RUIN.-Punch is as jocose as ever

He gives the following rules for ruining one's health: Rule 1st. Stop in bed late. Hot suppers.
Turn day into night—night into day.

Take no exercise. Always ride when you can walk. Never mind about wet feet. Have half a dozen doctors. 8th. Drink all the remedies they send you.
9th. Try every new quack.
10th. If that doesn't kill you, quack yourself.
But, good Mister Punch, ain't the above infallible rules just as much committing suicide as the poor creature with angular brain and a la horse-pistol practice?

"Vy, no—the one is quite fashionable, while the other is just so so. Whatever is according to the mode, is both law and gospel, and that should satisfy any fastidious fool."—Materials for Thinking A RICH CALIFORNIA WOMAN .- Mrs. Eliza Todd,

A RICH CALIFORNIA WOMAN.—Mrs. Eliza Todd, who owns a ranch a mile below Weaverville, is a remarkable woman. In 1852 she walked from Shasta to Weaverville, and, without money, began the business of washing for six dollars a dozen. An acquaintance who lived near her domicil, says thatfor a long time ste was bending over the wash tub at daylight in the morning, at noon, and at 10 o'clock at night. Business prospered, and after a while she bought two claims which turned out well. Then she bought chickens which laid eggs and which she sold at half a dollar a piece; then she bought a pig for $125, and sold its progeny for an ounce, or $25; then bought cows and sold milk. An affray took place on the down train of cars on Friday evening last, between a man by the name of Williams and Mr. Schoolcraft, of this city, in which Schoolcraft struck Williams with a bar of iron, from which he has since died. We understand that Williams was very much intoxicated, and was using very obseene language in the presence of some ladies. Schoolcraft tried to check him. Williams drew a knife and attempted to stab Schoolcraft, when the latter struck him, which has unfortunately resulted in his death.—

White was presented for examination, charged with the murder of Mike Harman. A large number of witnesses were sworn for he prosecution, Dr. Buchanan, the coroner, being he first examined. He testified to holding an quest on the body of deceased the next morn inquest on the body of deceased the next morning after he had been shot. He found three gun shot wounds on the body; one of which was about three inches below the left nipple, in the breast.—

In the back was a similiar wound, which, he thinks, was the exit of the ball from the front, though a probe could not follow it. By this it would appear that deceased might have been shot in the back as well as the front, though the witness did not say so. He had another wound in the right arm, and a third in the right ankle. The the right arm, and a third in the right ankle. The wound in the ankle, he thinks, might have been given by deceased himself, by the discharge of a weapon in his own hand.

Dr. Ronald testified that, night before last, while on horse back, going down to the railroad to visit a patient, on the way he saw several of the party—White, Jeffrey, Victor, Warren, and We will here take occasion to rem to deceased that he had threatened to whip him, and now was the time to try it. Harman replied that he would fight him to-morrow, but White insisted that each should lay aside their weapons and fight it out. The witness here tried to pacify them, and got deceased into the back room. When the first back room first life pacific them. he first shots were fired Harman was down bethe shot going up through the ceiling. Harman first entered the coffee house with Dillon and first entered the coffee house with Dillon and Fisher, after that White and his party came in, and White commenced a quarrel with Harman, as stated before. The firing commenced at the farend of the counter, which is not more than four feet from the door into which Harman had entered.

White had advanced the length of the counter.

Patrick Dillon testified to going with Harman, the deceased, into the coffee-house to drink, and the first thing he took notice was hearing White citement was all over. Witness then interposed to quiet them, stating that Harman was a friend of his, and he didn't want any fuss then. They all took drinks, and witness thought it was all over, but Wm. Badgett said something, and White slapped him in the face, when the fuss commenced again, and witness took hold of Harman; got him into the back roem, wanting to be all the pack way. After being to make him go out the back way. After being in the room a short time, the deceased was determined to go out the front way, the way he came in, and did start to go out, but had barely opened the door of the back room and taken a step forward, when the first shot was fired, and in half a second several other shots were fired. He had a second several other shots were fired. He had hold of Harman up to the time he went into the back room until he came out again, and neither saw a weapon in his hand, nor felt one about him. As the first shot was fired, Harman stepped to one side, or reeled off, the witness not being over four or five feet from Harman, and then he did not see a weapon in his hand, the witness having the impression that the other party had left the house. The witness did not see or recognize White at that time. Harman had told witness while he was holding him, that he entered the house the front way, and was determined to go out as he came in, and if the witness did not let go of him he would shoot his head off. He did not let go his hold of him, but held on.

Jacob Fisher testified to being outside at the ime, and when Harman went into the back room, with a revolver in his hand, and went to the back gate with an evident determination to shoot Har man if he came out the back way. The witness soon saw White come back into the coffee house, and directly the firing commenced. The witness saw White fire the last shot at Harman, but didn't see the first shot. Before that the parties had been fussing and quarrelling. When White went out of the door with the pistol in his hand, the witness didn't hear him say he was going to shoot Harman, but from his previous actions came to that conclusion.

The city attorney, on the part of the prosecution, here rested the case, stating that he might want the testimony of Squire Marsh, who was not in attendance.

For the defense a large number of witnesses

on came in. The witness heard an altercation and proposals made to fight, and after that Harman went into a back room and White went out. The witness was engaged in a private conversation with Sam. McHugh; heard some shooting or something else, and Saw Mike Harman with a pistol in his hand, and saw White coming in the frent does and saw way we went.

He says he was in company of White and Warner, and went into the coffee house, where they found Harman, and an altercation took place about fighting, the witness being very tight, and seconded the proposition to have the fight next day—a fist fight—the witness thinking there was an old grudge between them. After the firing an old gradge between them. After the firing was all over, the witness saw a pistol, dark handled in Harman's hand. There was nothing white about it. [This distinctly contradicts the statements of Hines, the first witness for the defense.] Joseph Warren was next introduced, first stat-ng that his testimony was the same as Badgett's. revious to the shooting he saw White draw his pistol and lay it on the counter. He didn't see Harman have any pistol; he, the witness, was not in the room when the firing commenced; the doors were all closed, though they had been opened. There was a crowd of one hundred outside. He didn't hear Harman make any threats, and when he was accused of it by White he very decidedly enied it; this was soon after White entered the Mr. Barkus didn't know anything at all about it, and didn't know anything about threats being made, except outside talk that the grapeshot

Head, watchman, examined Harman's pistol on the night of the shooting: it was a small six shooter, with a bright barrel, with four bar-rels empty. Witness didn't see White at all, but heard he had given himself up; witness had heard street rumor that the grapeshot crowd had reatened to kill White, Jeffrey and Victor on the ection. They were to be killed on the day of the election, but the day had passed and none of them killed.

Watchman Bradley testified to seeing the crowd about the coffee house, and saw Harman, the ac-cused and others, and not liking the looks of the crowd, took Harman to one side and advised him to go away. The witness then went away, but soon after heard of the shooting, and on repairing o the house, found the deceased up stairs, wound ed. The witness had heard the threats, and advised the parties to look out, and cautioned Jeffrey to keep away from that part of the town, but didn't think it worth while to tell White to keep away All the watch had heard the common rumor, that the Grapeshot crowd had threatened the lives of Jeffrey, Victor, and White before last Saturday night. THE CHARGE OF SHOOTING DR. ROGERS.—Alfred Whitlow was arraigned for shooting Dr. Rogers, in Portland. Several witnesses were introduced one of whom, George Kane, testified to seeing accused in a hack shooting at Dr. Rogers, as he was running down the hill, going to the ferry landing, at Portland. Whitlow was in a hack, pursuing Rogers, firing three shots. The latter was taken on board the ferry dock, where it was ascertained the was wounded in the back or side.

e was wounded in the back or side. For the defense, Charles Whitlow, a brother of ccused, was introduced, who testified that his rother was under treatment for rheumatism, and that Dr. Rogers was attending him, and while visiting the house had written notes to a young sister of his, and was seeking her company though warned away. The Doctor is a married man, and the impression prevailed that he was trying to persuade the young girl to run away with him. de had promised the witness that he would never address her again, but it appeared that he did not keep his word. Subsequently he threw a note in he window, and was trying to see her whereve she went, and had said he was divorced from his wife. The same testimony was given by another brother of the accused.

The accused is a cripple from rheumatism, and the other brothers are, most of the time, away from home, being employed on boats on the river. Dr. Rogers had admitted to witnesses that he did wrong in his conduct in the family, and promised to abstain in the future, but failed to keep his word, which led to the assault upon him, which should, in common justice, exonerate Mr. Whitlow.

The Last Act in the Plug Ugly Drama. If there is a decent man in Louisville who was not sufficiently disgusted with modern Know Nothingism to turn his back upon it forever, in consequence of the outrages in the First Ward last Monday, to say nothing of other parts of the city, let him reflect upon what was done vesterday, and we think he will be satisfied. Thomas Batman has been refused a certificate of election and Wm. K. Thomas offered one, by a species of knavery that ought to disgrace forever every one connected with it. The law required that Hon. Edward Garland, W. S. D. Megowan and Charles M. Thruston, should examine the poll books and give certificates of election to the successful candidates .-Thruston and Megowan, for reasons not known to us, declined to serve as commissioners. These men being out of the way, left room for tools that could be used. Joseph Clement and Samuel Mattack, two Know Nothing magistrates of the school intense, took their places in the commissioner's board. Their plan of operations was made known to Judge Garland, the remaining commissioner, and he promptly refused to act with them upon any such knavish basis. When Judge Garland left the board. Clement and Matlack had things their own way, and they fixed up matters as they were never arranged before in this wide world.

The poll books showed that Batman was elected over Thomas by a clear and indisputable majority The work to be done by Clement and Matlack was to overcome this majority. They took hold of the books with the intention of defeating Batman and electing Thomas. Their ingenuity invented the means of doing this, but they concluded that it would be best, at first, to make a tie vote between Batman and Thomas, and they did it. The following is the manner in which they made

They ruled out of the count of votes all of the Third Ward and the Gilman precinct poll books, except the last page. They then ruled out one page of the poll book of the Second District of the Eighth Ward; one page from the book of the Two Mile House; one page from the book of the First District of the Second Ward; two pages from the Brunerstown book, and one page from the book of the First District of the First Ward. When these pages were stricken out the vote between Batman and Thomas was pronounced by them to be equal.

They made known their decision of the tie vote, and some who heard it then understood why so of late overhauling the poll books through seals and against law. Their tie vote decision, however. did not give entire satisfaction. They abandoned it and held another election. By this last election Clement and Matlack elected Thomas by two votes. What they will do next, the Lord only knows, unless the devil has some knowledge of their designs. Late last night we received from the Journa office, the head quarters of jail cliquery, a note suggesting that Thomas would decline the office to which Clement and Matlack had elected him by two votes. Later we received for publication a and withdrew his card of declination until to-mormorrow, alleging as a reason, that Monroe would be sworn in to-morrow, and that Thomas wanted to address his resignation to him instead of to beneath the broad canopy of heaven? Has any man ever read or heard of such conduct? Is it not enough to disgust every decent man, no matter to what party he belongs? If it is not a dose that will turn the stomach of every true American in the city, we shall be greatly mistaken. We do not think that hopest Americans can stand such official conduct as this. Matlack and Clement will be remembered when they come before the people for re-election. As to their disgraceful ession, it amounts to nothing. Batman will get his office if he has to go to law for it.

We publish in another column the official vote first made out by Clement and Matlack. It will as high as 93 in the shade. At the mead fountain be seen that Batman and Thomas each have 3,225 votes, according to their first report. The old hero of the Thames and New Orleans was the choice of a grateful people, by a majority of 76 votes, but Clement and Matlack held another election, and gave Thomas as many votes as Batman received. They then held another election and made Thomas beat him two votes. What say the people who elected Batman, to such proceedings as these?

An altercation occurred a few days since between Mr. John York, of New Orleans, and Mr. Carrick, of Memphis, the settlement of which could not be postponed until they could arrive at some town, so they agreed to stop at the first landing and there settle the affair, which they did, with their friends, Mr. Chas. To the farmers of Shelby county I would say that I am now about leaving the State, and feel it my duty to express to them my sincere thanks for the liberal and generous manners in which they have sustained me in my business. Never do I expect to forget the people of Shelby. It was through them that I obtained the first merit of reward, as a Plow Maker, and to the editor of the Shelby News I shall always feel indebted. He is a true friend to the mechanic. Long may he live, and may he be sustained by the people of Shelby in his enterprise to the last.

I have sold out to Mr. C. G. Mershon, of this place, who is now manufacturing Hows after my patterns. Mr. Mershon is an energetic man, and one of considerable nerve. He says that he is determined that every job turned out by him shall be as near my patterns as can be made. My father will be with him for several months, consequently the Plows will all undergo his supervision. This being the case, I would be safe in saying that farmers ordering Plows need not fear, but that they will get a good Plow, and hope that they will give Mr. Mershon a trial.

THE FRIEND OF MAN.

A San example of the estimation in which it is held by one of the ablest writers, jurists, and writers on law, &c., in this country, we will give a letter received by Prof. DeGRATH from John Livingston, Esq., editor of the well-known Monthly Law Magazine, 157 Broadway, New York. A word of such testimony is of more weight among the best classes of the country than volumes from unknown sources:

among the best classes of the country than volumes from unknown sources:

Girard House, Philadelphia, May 7, 1856.

Prof. Charles DeGrath: I freely give it as my opinion that your "Electric Oil" is among the most wonderful remedies of modern times. At the earnest request of a lady who alleged she had been relieved of a most painful affection by its use. I was induced to try a bottle, though at the time of purchasing I fully believed it to be a quack medicine and a catchpenny humbug. But a trial convinces me that it possesses a magic power, and its use will prove a blessing to suffering humanity. I recently took a cold from sleeping in damp sheets, and my neck became so much swollen and painful that I could not turn my head.

After using, without success, everything prescribed by my physician, I last evening tried your Electric Oil. This morning I am well, the relief having been as complete as it was instataneous.

Yours very truly, JOHN LIVINGSTON,

Editor Monthly Law Magazine,
157 Broadway and 120 West Fourteenth st., N. Y.

On Monday, 27th of September, 1858, ILL commence the second and final Sale of Lots in this growing and most interesting YOUNG CITY.

The Trustees, in announcing this sale, feel warranted n assuring the public that at no point in the West can here be found a better chance for safe and profitable

KENTUCKY CITY is located on the east pank of the Mississipping ty miles below the mouth of the Ohio river, at ty miles below the mouth of the Ohlo river, at the first eligible highland, and in point of fact, being the mouth of the Ohlo river; surrounded by a high, bealthy, and fertile country, rapidly growing in well h and population, with a salubrious climate, generous. Everal and enlightened society. There wanted but one surther feature to make this the most commanding point on the "great Father of Waters"—this want was an uninterrupted and general outlet to the interior, so as to accommodate the interchange of commodities. That want is now fully met by the established system of RAILROADS, which has fixed Kentucky City as the center of a network of railroads stretching out and affording connections in all directions with the interior and with the cities and lakes of the North and East, and ramifying throughout the South and West.

That the public may not be led off by suspicions that this is a mere city upon paper, we request you to enquire—to come and see for yourselves.

See the Map—Kentucky City is the northern terminus of the Great Mobile and Ohio Railroad—460 miles long. See also our railroad connection by Union City and along the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad via Paris and Clarksville to Nashville, I70 miles. Also, by Kenton and along the Memphis and Ohio Road to Memphis, about 160 miles. Also via Jackson, Tenn., Holly Springs, Canton and Jackson, Miss., to New Orleans, 500 miles. Also via Corinth, thence along the Memphis and Charleston Railroad to Tuscumbia, Huntsville, Chattanooga, Knoxville and the East, and with Atlanta and Savannah, Georgia. Also by the Fulton and Texas Railroad via Little Rock, through to Arkansas and Texas to the Pacific Ocean.

Weakness of any kind,

STOMACH OR LIVER, uch as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Cos-tiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piets. In all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on scrictly scientific principles after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Borhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spirited, it will prove a greatful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.
